

In The Name Of Great Kurdistan .

H.S. Soran ,
Soransa@hotmail.com

July 23, 2008

Kurdistan Reunification Task .

As you may know , greater Kurdistan territory was for centuries an extensive vast colony , almost under corrupt Islamic Abbasid and Ottoman (Caliphate) Empire sovereignties , which was fragmented and divided ultimately among several countries in the political Big Bang of first world war . At this political Big Bang , which resulted in Ottoman Empire's total collapse and formation of several independent governments , like Balkan states , Turkey , Iraq , Syria and many other countries , instead of establishing a Kurdish independent state , which nearly is 5 times greater than Syria, it was mostly divided between those states , which were formed from fragments of torn Ottoman political body , such as Turkey , Iraq , Syria , as well as Iran and Armenia (Note : those parts which are divided among Iran and Armenia , sometimes were alternatively under Ottoman occupation and some times were a place of dispute , between Ottomans from one side and Iran/Russia regimes from other side . In the meantime , during Ottoman regime's barbaric reign , in many parts of greater Kurdistan , local Kurdish Rulers were administering their district as a partial de facto confederation efficiently .

Greater Kurdistan consists of a geographically attached and compact region , with around 50 million Kurdish inhabitants , having a distinct and special history , language , culture , behavior and an ardent common aspiration to have their own independent state . To ascertain this expression and theme , we shall point out to this fact , that at any part of divided Kurdistan , when central occupying regimes become weak , paralyzed and crippled , immediately the Kurds begin to claim their right of independence and start a peaceful extensive democratic movement . We have experienced this fact in Iraq , Iran , Turkey etc , several times before . But later when central governments revitalize and regain previous energy , direct Kurdish democratic movements towards a bias situation and transform it into a sanguine suppression of them . To verify this Kurdish aspiration of independence , based on its charter, UN can deploy a fact finding mission to make a referendum in greater Kurdistan and discover the reality . Because Kurds are a NATION of around 50 million and United NATIONS , is United NATIONS , not United GOVERNMENTS !!! , so this is its task and obligation .

In fact we can compare ex Germany with contemporary greater Kurdistan . As you know , in second world war , Germany was divided among USA , Britain , France and Soviet Union ; exactly like present Kurdistan and a partition wall was constructed between West & East Berlin similar to present artificial boundaries which are unjustifiably drawn between Kurdish divided regions . For decades , Germany was divided in this catastrophic manner , similar to Kurdistan , but due to international supportive attitude and German people's strong endeavour , the Berlin Wall was demolished bravely ; then two divided parts of Germany were reunified . In addition to Germany , in last one hundred years , more than 100 countries got their independence , for example many African colonial countries, some Common Wealth members , for example India , Bangladesh , Pakistan , remains of Ottoman , Soviet Union and Yugoslavia Regimes etc . The last land , which declared his legitimate independence , was Kosovo . So , this independent process is practical and has no kind of problem at all . .

Now in order to maintain peace in Middle East , establish stability and justice , same process shall be carried out by UN and other international responsible bodies , backed by super powers support and Kurds' own perseverant multilateral serious effort , to realize the Kurdistan Reunification Task , which will help effectively , in maintaining peace and stability of Middle East and the total globe . There is no other alternative , at all . This is a reunification emancipation process , not a separatism movement .

PS:

Kurds have proved to be a peaceful nation , fond of friendship and humanitarian lovely moral coexistence .They shall not be deprived from their legitimate rights ; such deprivations result in deterrent outcomes , as before ; which is not in favor of world peace and tranquility .